I contributed to the creation of a poster for a Data Science Talk event. Our objective was to create a visually engaging design that would attract data science professionals and enthusiasts alike.